Thinking Things Over...

By VIVIAN BATMAN

ABOUT WIDOWS

You have no doubt heard of golf widows. You have also probably heard of poker widows, and prize-fight widows, and fishing widows, and hunting widows (no pun meant). Have you, however, heard of a Chamber of Commerce widow?

You haven't? Well, now you're hearing of one. I am IT.

The township has suddenly got the chamber of commerce fever. They are breaking out all over. My husband, being also the editor of this paper, feels that he must "cover" every chamber meeting. Quite often two will come on the same night. That is a very distressing circumstance.

With seven or eight or thereabouts chambers of commerce, the situation, as far as I am concerned, it getting out of hand. I believe I would rather be a golf widow. Quite often the weather plays on the side of the golf widow. It rains. But Chambers of Commerce go on, rain or shine—on, and on, and on.

A FRIEND GOES

Our very best friend died this week. He had been struck by a car and suffered internal injuries.

He was the sort of friend whom you more or less take for granted—always there when you wanted him, always ready to go anywhere or do anything. We had come to think of him as a part of our life that would go on forever. His loss, therefore, came as a complete shock.

It is always a sorry business losing a friend. When that friend has shown in a thousand different ways his affection for you, when he has approved your every action, when he has uttered no word of criticism of you, nor shown in any way that he had ought but respect and admiration for you, it is a doubly sorry business.

There are too few friends like our friend, and that is why we grieve over his loss. His name was Pal—and he was truly that, as fine a companion as any dog could be.

Two Distinctive Meals with Low-Cost Meats

Many of my most appealing menus are planned around inexpensive cuts of meat. Here are two of my best-liked dinners that are sure to bring you compliments from guests or family.

OLD-FASHIONED BOILED DINNER

Don't forget this old favorite for a wintry day. Even the most discriminating eaters go for it. I like to serve it with hot corn bread or cornmeal muffins and a frosted apple dumpling for dessert. I always pass some of the "pot liquor" and a bowl of mustard-horse-radish sauce.

To serve 6, simmer 4 or 5 pounds of boiling beef (choose short ribs, brisket, plate or chuck for this) in a large kettle for 3 or 4 hours or until tender. About ½ hour before serving time place on top of the meat 6 medium-sized peeled potatoes, carrots, white turnips, onions, cabbage wedges and parsnips. Sprinkle lightly with salt and cover tightly. Simmer until vegetables are done. Arrange attractively on a large platter around the meat, keeping all of one kind of vegetable together.

POT ROAST WITH RICH VEGETABLE GRAVY

Here's gravy that's really something. For a Sunday dinner I like to serve pot roast and gravy and accompany it with fluffy mashed potatoes, broccoli with lemon butter, grapefruit and avocado salad with French dressing, whole wheat biscuits and lemon chiffon pie.

Brown a 4 or 5 pound pot roast in hot shortening in a large kettle, turning often. (I usually select one of the chuck roasts or a rump roast to pot roast.) Add 1 to 2 cups water or tomato juice. Put 3 or 4 cut-up tops and outside stalks of celery, a peeled potato, a carrot, a large onion, some leaves of cabbage, parsley and any left-over vegetables you have on hand in the kettle with the pot roast. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover tightly and simmer slowly several hours or until meat is tender, adding more liquid if necessary. When done, remove meat and press vegetables through colander along with the liquid. Season the vegetable gravy to taste with salt and pepper, a few drops of Worcestershire or gravy sauce. I find the mashed vegetables thicken the gravy sufficiently. But if you like thicker gravy, then it may be thickened with flour and water.

A Living War Memorial

The idea of "living war memorials" is widespread. Throughout our country there is the desire to perpetuate the memory of its war heroes appropriately.

A "living memorial" is a useful, lasting, and a far more effective way of paying tribute to our heroes, dead and living, than is a great monument, erected, it is true, in a spirit of respect and devotion, but too often left to gather moss and become neglected and forgotten with passing time.

A "living memorial" — a park, hospital, playground, recreation center, swimming pool —is something that will endure through the years, and will become a necessary part of the lives of the townspeople.

The township, as a unit, including all of the towns it comprises, should honor its veterans and dead heroes. It should honor them in a way that says, in effect, "Young man, we know and appreciate what you've done for us in this war. It is fitting that a memorial that serves humanity should be erected in your honor so that your memory may live on for generations."

What sort of memorial? It is apparent to anyone who has given any thought to the matter that there is need for a hospital here. There is also a need for a swimming pool at the high school, as well as a park, centrally located, and for a recreation center. Any of these things serve humanity, and would be, truly, a "living" memorial.

OPA in Action?

Here is an example of what business men are up against in dealing with the OPA. In this case a company wanted to make door knobs for new homes. It was necessary to get OPA to set a price on the product.

The following is a condensed version of what happened:

June 12: Mailed forms and exhibits to Washington.

July 31: OPA asks for photos.

August 21: Photos and samples sent to Washington.

Sept. 3: Company wired OPA: "Production stopped, workers laid off."

Sept. 7: OPA wired: "Expect decision next week."

Sept. 13: OPA phoned from Washington: "What is kirksite?"

Sept. 15: Kirksite samples sent to Washington.

Oct. 3: OPA announces price which is exactly equal to cost of production, or about half of the competitor's price.

Oct. 12: OPA denies appeal for relief.

The door knobs? You guessed it. They're not being made.

NO SENSE OF HUMOR!

KRAFTILE MARKS 20TH YEAR OF OPERATIONS

The Kraftile Company of Niles, manufacturers of clay products and distributors of building construction materials, celebrated its twentieth anniversary in western business last month, according to an announcement from the offices of C. W. Kraft, president.

The company was incorporated on January 28, 1926, after having operated for a year as the Kraft Clay Products Company, an outgrowth of the K and L Box and Lumber Company, which manufactured boxes for the Kraft Cheese Company. Decision to enter the building materials field came when the Kraft management saw potential use for the clay soil in the neighborhood of the original factory and for the waste materials from the boxing operations.

The Kraftile Company has grown steadily, adding consistently to employee rolls and acquiring distributorships for several new products, including its most recent line, the Stran-Steel "Quonset type" packaged steel buildings for agricultural and industrial use.

A director of the Producers Council, Inc., national organization or building material manufacturers headquartered at Washington, D. C., C. W. Kraft is now putting into effect the first phases of a postwar plan intended to identify the Kraftile Company closely with national building construction activity.

FARM NEWS
AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

TIME TO TREAT CROWN GALLS

The spring months are the best time to treat crown gall on peach, almond and walnut trees. The soil is moist and more easily removed to expose the galls for treatment.

Farm Advisor T. O. Morrison explains the crown gall disease. He says the large wart-like growths which develop about the crown of the tree are caused by bacteria, and they are called galls. The bacterial does not enter through healthy or unbroken roots. A wound in the roots about the crown from implements or tools may be the beginning of crown gall. By opening a wound through which the bacteria enters the crown ball bacteria may live in the soil for a long time and it is easily spread.

He says, after cleaning the soil away from the affected part, cut off the gall with an ax or chisel and brush the wound clean. Then paint the area with a liquid solution of one part Elgetol and four parts of wood alcohol. You can apply this mixture from an oil can or a large ink bottle with a spout, or even a paint brush. Shake the mixture well before using. Be sure to cover the surface from which the gall was removed and extend the application one-half to one inch beyond the margin of the gall.

You may want to leave the area exposed until you are sure about the control. It is a good plan to paint any new wounds about the crown of the tree with Elgetol solution to prevent infection.

POULTRY FARMING IN CALIFORNIA

An average flock of 2,000 hens for the year requires floor space adequate to house a maximum of 2,800 layers in the fall months after replacements have been made. It is important to have sufficient floor space for the operations in the poultry house.

Persons entering the poultry business should give particular attention to buildings. The open-front, shed-roof type of poultry house is recommended for most section of California. Details of construction and direction of placement may vary somewhat in different regions, such as the facing of the buildings to the south or the east. Dirty yards are not widely used and may well be replaced by small concrete or wire-bottom yards in front of the houses. A table giving floor space recommendations and capacity of commercial-size pens has been prepared by Arthur Shultis, specialist in farm management of the Agricultural Extension Service. He gives the floor space necessary per bird for Leghorns and heavy breeds at different ages. Shultis also gives two typical plans, one for a single family poultry farm with commercial egg flock averaging 2,000 hens, and the other a family poultry meat and egg farm for an average of 1,120 hens of heavy breeds and production of 2,700 fryers. P. T. Meyers, assistand Farm Advisor, will be glad to discuss housing plans with any interested persons.

BETTER CONTROL OF PARASITES

Results of research speeded up during the war enables livestock producers to combat animal parasites more effectively now than ever before. Dr. Kenneth G. McKay, specialist in veterinary science of the Agricultural Extension Service, says most of the new knowledge has led to more effective or more economical means of controlling animal parasites than methods used previously.

McKay reviews some of the advantages in control of livestock parasites: Cattle grubs may be effectively controlled by the use of rotenone-containing materials, incorporated in dusts, washes, sprays, and dips. When used as a fine spray applied with power-operated orchard equipment, the rotenone preparation should be under at least 400 pounds pressure at the nozzle, recent tests have shown.

Cattle lice may be controlled by a rotenone-containing dip. When it is necessary to deal with this pest as well as dipping for grubs, one extra dipping 16 days after the first dipping for groubs is needed.

Sheep ticks also succumb to rotenone dips which, in the light of recent research, may be weaker than formerly recommended.

Common stomach worms of sheep can be effectively controlled by a mixture of phenothiazine and salt. Besides killing the worms, this medication prevents most of the larvae of worm eggs from developing. Thus the treatment is both curative and preventive.

Liver flukes in cattle have proved to be vulnerable to medication with hexachlorethane and bentonite, given together as a drench.

HOME SEPTIC TANK CIRCULATOR

The most satisfactory and accepted method of sewage disposal for rural homes is the septic tank and a subsurface drainage system. The convenience of water passing into the house is now enjoyed by nearly three-fourths of the farm families in California. The full advantage of having running water in the dwelling can be obtained only if the sewage disposal system is safe.

Homemade septic tanks will operate effectively if properly designed and constructed. A circular of the Agricultural Extension Service, "A Septic Tank for Farm Homes," discusses types of septic tanks, directions for building, and final disposal of the liquid from the tank.

Drawings and material lists are included in the circular. It is available at no cost at the office of the Agricultural Extension Service, P. O. building, Hayward.

During the 1944-45 season California produced 83,973 tons of sardine meal.

OUR READERS WRITE

February 12, 1946.

Dear Sir or Madam:

Will you please print in the Township Register the following notice?

The party whose dog is missing a collar bearing Alameda County License No. 464 for the year 1945, if they will come to the late Farrington home and ask for Mr. or Mrs. R. N. Ripley, we will gladly give them their collar back. Their dog broke loose his chain and, thinking they would look for him, we tied him up. He got out—chain, collar and all.

We wish to return both to the right owner as we would appreciate the same in case it was us.

Thank you,

SAN JOSE MAN AWARDED HONORS FOR HOLSTEINS

A Progressive Breeder's Plaque and Certificate has been awarded to Frank Hopkins, San Jose, by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Only 84 Holstein breeding establishments in the nation have received this honor and Hopkins is one of three in California to qualify. The Progressive Breeders' award is the highest honor given to members of the national Holstein Association and is given in recognition of a well-balanced herd improvement program developed over a period of years.

The Hopkins herd has been tested for production in the Herd Improvement Registry program of the National Holstein association for three consecutive years. The last test year was completed September 30, 1945, with the 29-cow herd averaging 476 pounds of butterfat and 13,505 pounds of milk in 296 days on two milkings daily.

The herd also has been classified for type and scored 83.9.

England now has 240 oil wells, producing about half a million barrels of crude oil a year. They were drilled during the war by an Oklahoma contractor for the British government.

MISSION SAN JOSE NEWS

WITH LOIS JUSTUS

Did it take a war to bring our boys of the community into a closer bond of friendship? Could be!! As now that most of our boys have returned from the far corners of the earth to assemble in their home town, they are forming a vets club here, sponsored by Frank Dias, vet of World War I. He has very generously turned over his rumpus room, Bar-B-Q facilities and piano for their use. They will have dues and a feed once a month and can bring guests and their gal friends. Good luck, all you vets; nothing is too good for you, and thanks to Frank for his wonderful spirit.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kempton and their two daughters, Ruthie and Joyce, have moved into their new home in Irvington. Hank is another of our vets.

Eugene Bramwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bramwell, left Friday night for Los Angeles to spend a few days with his sister, Miss Frances Bramwell, and Mr. and Mrs. James Bramwell Jr.

Father Lawrence, well named "Lover of little children and dogs," has personally added several bicycles to the recreation grounds equipment at St. Mary of the Palms where he is chaplain.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tyler, former Mission residents who left here some time ago to return to Oklahoma, have returned to sunny (?) California, and the Mission in particular and are endeavoring to find a place to live, and Teddy Pereira remarks, "And here I am only trying to remain in the Mission." She is one of those unfortunates who have had their place of residence sold out from under them, and are trying in vain to get, and as she says, "even a chicken coop."

The Reverend Julio Martin of Hayward visited Reverend John Leal on Monday.

Last Tuesday evening at the regular weekly meeting of the Mission Fire Department, the following officers were elected to serve for the coming year: George Rodrigues, president, resident of the Mission for years and one of our recently discharged vets; Daniel Cross, vice-president, local owner of the Machine Repair Shop; Frank Varga, secretary; Tony Santos, treasurer; and Frank Albert, sergeant at arms. Jack Perreira is the retiring president.

Mrs. Anna McGovern and Clarence Souza are up and around again following the flu, earaches, and what have you.

James Kelly Jr. of San Francisco and a former employee here at the C. L. Best residence, spent a few days here as a guest of "Nonie" and "Weezer" Hernandez, sons of our local librarian, Mrs. Josephine Fernandez.

Mrs. Lois Justus, postmaster in the Mission, received word that her son, Bert, has received his T/5 rating. He is at Nagoya, Japan, and is a tool and die worker there at the shops taken over by the Americans. His biggest job right now is to winterize all the Jeeps of the Big Shots, to keep them warm. They have a very nice Red Cross Club which is a breath of good old U.S.A., with eats, music, games, places to write home and once in a while an artist on the piano or dance teams and the like come in to entertain the boys. Lots of snow right now, but on their arrival in September the weather was nearly like the home state of California. Justus was a tool and die apprentice at Merchant Company in Emeryville before his induction last March.

Mrs. Viola Dutra and son, Arnold, and Mrs. Maude Dutra arrived here from Lincoln to spend a few days with Mrs. Grace Meyers and family. Ray Dutra and daughter, Patsy, who was in school when her mother came down, arrived on Saturday.

The I.D.E.S. Lodge gave a banquet on Sunday to all returned soldier boys and sailor boys of our town and their families. A very nice crowd was in attendance and a good time was had by all.

Mrs. Joseph Semas, "Helen" to all her neighbors and friends, was feted on Saturday in Santa Cruz where she celebrated her birthday at a lovely dinner party with relatives. She is our head "Hello Girl."

Little Priscilla Dunn celebrated her fourth birthday on Thursday with a lovely cake and ice cream at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Bramwell Sr.

Mrs. Clarence Souza of Irvington and her sister, Mrs. Anthony Santos of the Mission, spent Friday in San Jose on business.

Miss Loretta Braggas and Miss Bernice Costa of Selma visited friends and their uncle, Thomas Semas, and family a few days last week.

T/5 Melvin Souza, son of Mrs. Mary Souza, walked in on his folks last Saturday morning when they had not the slightest inkling that he was anywhere nearer than Manilla, P. I. His pal, Frank Rogers, saw him at Camp Beale a few days before but good soldier that he was, kept it a secret when he returned home a few days before his discharge. Melvin is also a civilian now, having served over two years in several parts of the Pacific, including Manilla, Northern Japan and other islands. He says, "I am a soldier really, but I could be mistaken for a sailor for I spent one hundred and ninety days on the water while going and coming and cruising from one hell hole to another."

Ease of entry from the street for delivery service should be included in all plans for kitchens in new homes.

GARDEN PARTY TO BE REVIVED AT SHINN HOME

Once again the gardens of the J. C. Shinn home will ring with laughter and gaiety and music, and friends will meet under the trees, to talk and to have lunch together, and children will play and perhaps find amusements especially for them, and—but why go on? We're sure that already you're in the spirit, and can hardly wait until the day when the Toyon Branch of the Children's Hospital of the East Bay once again puts on its public garden party, that has been held annually at the Shinn home since the Toyon Branch was first organized thirty years ago. That is, it has been held there until the time of the war, when it had to be cancelled for obvious reasons.

But now, with the war's end, the members of Toyon are busily planning for the affair, which will be held either in the latter part or May or early June, the date not having been definitely set.

This garden party, unlike many other garden parties, is a family affair, open to all the fathers and children as well as the mothers who wish to attend. In former years, the families arrived before lunch, were able to select (at a price, of course) their lunch from a tempting array of foods, prepared as only the good cooks around here can prepare them.

Then, after lunch, there was singing and dancing, and perhaps little booths where one could get a grab-bag or homemade cakes or cookies to take home. Oh, yes, it's indeed a festive occasion, and now that we know it's coming we find ourselves eagerly looking forward to it.

And while we're having fun, we'll know that it's fun with a purpose, because the proceeds go to the helpless little victims of sickness in the Children's Hospital of the East Bay.

Arvin produces the earliest table grapes in the country.

"Bill" and "Dorothy" Are Engaged

A cake, bearing a large bow, the white end of which had frosted red letters spelling "Dorothy," the red end, in white frosting, lettered "Bill," was the means of announcing last night the engagement of Miss Dorothy Tanner of Oakland, and William H. Hittenberger, U.S. N., son of Mrs. K. D. Wooden of Mission San Jose.

The party, a shower for the bride-to-be, was given jointly by the bride's mother, Mrs. M. Tanner, and by the mother of the groom-to-be, at the home of Mrs. A. E. Duffin in Alameda.

Streamers of red and white ribbons from the chandelier bearing cupids, hearts, and arrows, adorned the room, carrying out the Valentine motif.

The many lovely gifts she received were presented to the future bride in a large leather-covered cedar chest, made by her intended father-in-law, H. G. Hittenberger of Oakland.

The guests arrived from San Jose, San Bruno, Berkeley, San Juan Bautista, Alameda, Oakland, Richmond, San Francisco, Mission San Jose, and Hayward.

The date of the wedding has not been announced, pending a leave from his Navy duties for the future groom.

Edna Lewis Feted On 16th Birthday

On Sunday, February 10, Miss Edna Lewis was guest of honor at a surprise party celebrating her sixteenth birthday.

The affair, arranged by her family and friends, included attending the Roller Skating Vanities, then dinner at "Ida's Plantation" in Oakland. Highlight of the dinner was the large candle lit birthday cake served at the table for the customary blowing of the candles.

Those attending the celebration besides the guest of honor were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Lewis; sisters, Loretta and Charlotte, Mr. Harold Burns, and Miss Beth King.

Richard Robbins Has Birthday Party

Valentine's Day provided the motif for the decorations at little Richard Robbin's party last Friday, when he had seven of his little friends in to help him celebrate for fourth birthday. His mother, Mrs. Tom Robbins, served ice cream, cake and candy to his little guests who included Kent and Jon Rees, Billy Hird, Renny Emerson, Tommy Logan and Donald and Phil Buehler.

Novel Party At King Home

A "cootie" party is the latest thing in Niles. For you fastidious people who may be lifting your eyebrows, let us hasten to explain a little something about a "cootie" party. It is a game—a very exciting game judging from the laughter and noise that was coming from the confines of the Alfred King home on First Street in Niles last Monday evening. The winner of this exciting game, which, from all we can deduct is a combination of Chinese checkers and bingo, with a dash of poker, was Mrs. George King.

Following the game, refreshments were served, which included stuffed rolls, cup cakes, chocolate layer cake, fruit cake, and coffee.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George King, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sousa and Elaine, Alva Martinez and Dennis, Rosalyn, Velma and Clarence Telles, Mrs. Evalyn Harvey, Mervin Santos, Elvin Santos, Louis Sousa, Eddie Azevedo, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dutra, and Janet and Marlene Dutra, Marie Cunha, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frick.

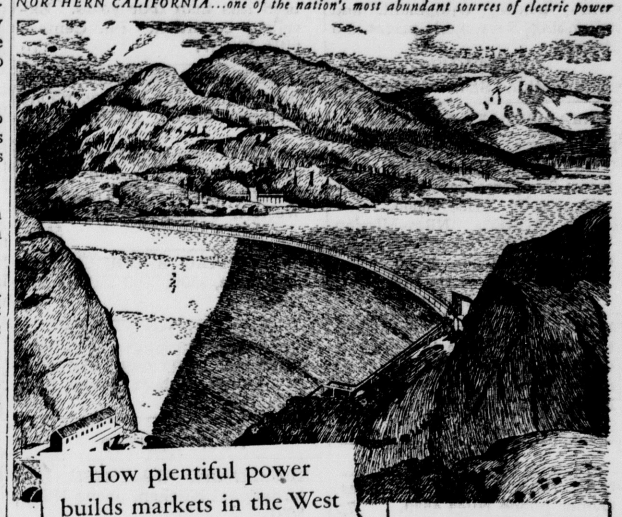
NORTHERN CALIFORNIA...one of the nation's most abundant sources of electric power



How plentiful power builds markets in the West

More than half of all the hydroelectric power in the United States is generated in the West. Thirty-seven billion kilowatt-hours annually.

And one important result is... better markets for your products.

Western housewives, for example, buy far more home appliances than average housewives. Seventeen per cent more of their homes are wired for electricity, and their standards of living are consequently higher. Western farms use nearly three times as much electricity as average farms, California alone accounting for more than half the country's entire rural consumption.

So plentiful power helps build western markets just as it helps lower manufacturing costs, and nowhere in the West is power more plentiful than in Northern California. Here, the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's vast interconnected generating system has a capacity twice that of Boulder Dam, and 60 per cent greater than Bonneville and Grand Coulee combined. Rates are among the lowest in the nation.

If power is important in your business, either in creating a market or in producing for one, investigate the advantages of locating in Northern California. The Pacific Gas and Electric Company will be glad to help you in every way possible.

Northern California...industrial center of the new Pacific World

PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

P. G. and E. engineers will help you locate your plant

A well-trained Pacific Gas and Electric Company engineering staff has been built solely to help industrial firms learn the facts about locating in Northern California. This staff works closely with established agencies throughout the entire area, and its service includes at no charge...

A thorough study of available sites, photographs, maps, aerial perspectives.

Complete information on environment, transportation, drainage... trucking and freight rates.

Estimated cost of property, of any necessary improvements, of power and other utilities.

For more information, or assistance of any kind, write Pacific Gas and Electric Company, San Francisco 6, California.

POWER...to Pace the Future

Electric energy, the "White Coal" of the West, has been an important factor in the challenging growth and prosperity of Northern California. The abundance of this electric power, its widespread distribution at rates among the lowest in the nation, have fostered a live demand for a great diversity of products for the home, farm, factory and business. A dependable supply of hydro-electricity has helped make Northern California one of the richest markets in the Nation.

You, who use electric appliances in your homes and constantly add to this family of mechanical servants, are that market. You buy and use far more electrical appliances than folks elsewhere in the country and you can do so because electricity is convenient and cheap. You, who have farms in Northern California, use more than half of the Nation's entire rural power load. You have complete electric service in your farm home, in the fields and barns. And you, like Northern California business and industry, use electricity to help lower your production costs.

Low cost electric power, and lots of it, has been a builder of markets in Northern California. It took the heavy demands of wartime industries in stride and is ready now to pace the future.

This is the fourth of a series of Pacific Gas and Electric Company advertisements to attract new industry to Northern California. It will appear in Time and the Saturday Evening Post.

DECOTO GROUP DISCUSSES BOOK

By ELSA WALKER

The Decoto Discussion Group was most delightfully entertained by Mrs. Della Park on Thursday, February 7.

The luncheon table was very beautifully decorated in the Valentine motif with red hearts and a cupid doll as a centerpiece and valentine place cards. A very lavish luncheon was served at twelve o'clock by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Amy Brown, and was delightfully concluded by passing a valentine box of candy presented by Mr. Park in honor of the occasion.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Brown and for the travel meeting of the year she chose "African Journel," by Mrs. Paul Robeson. A very lively discussion with conflicting opinions made the study hour go by on wings. The consensus of opinion was that the literary value of the book was below par, but the factual value in revealing the unbelievable oppression of the natives in Africa by so-called democratic nations, like Holland and England, so busily engaged in "the fight for freedom" since 1941, is really astounding.

Perhaps the greatest value of the book is the revelation of the author's own personality. From a cultured and well-to-do home, she has studied at the greatest universities in America and Europe but with one idea, to benefit her race. Her pride in her race in their lowliest and most poverty-stricken areas, and in bearing their burdens spiritually and working for their emancipation is worthy of anyone's reverence. When we think of many of our Hollywood artists with their dissipation and broken homes, this woman married to one of the foremost artists of the world and surrounded by wealth and admiration, has not allowed money to corrupt her home nor her ideals for the world-wide betterment of her race.

Mrs. Lester Watkins was a guest.

The average American motorist in peacetime, travels some 8,100 miles a year in his car. Traveling salesmen average 18,800 miles per year.

"IT'S BEEN A LONG, LONG TIME"

Do you remember the time when you could go into a railway office and quietly purchase a ticket for business or recreation travel? You didn't feel that you should stay at home in order that some member of the armed forces could travel. And you didn't stand in line only to be told that the train was sold out to the Army and Navy, and those traveling on vitally essential business.

Those days are here again!

Today, all service personnel are being moved promptly and there is no backlog on the Western Pacific.

So, space is now available on the Western Pacific Exposition Flyer. Train service is getting back to our usual pre-war standard and we are serving three meals a day in the diner. The only restriction is that, for the present, reservations cannot be made more than fourteen days in advance.

It's been a long, long time—but now you can plan a pleasant and comfortable trip. For information see:
